

Secondary Offering

Handling the Registered Sale of Previously Issued Securities

A Secondary Offering is a registered offering by a current shareholder of a large block of a security which has been previously issued to the public. The proceeds of the sale go to the shareholder, not the issuing company, and the number of shares outstanding does not change.

Mellon Investor Services can provide a systematic process to help manage the public sale of previously issued securities. Our extensive resources allow us to meet your special needs, whether or not we are your transfer agent. These resources include, for example:

- Comprehensive in-house processing capabilities
- Experienced staff
- Sophisticated automated processing system, including optical scanning of all “surrendered” instructions
- Dedicated programming staff for customized requests
- Automated voice instructions for participating holders, supported by complete shareholder relations service
- Internet access to transaction documents

Key Benefits

- Quality Assurance ~ Each step in the Secondary Offering process is reviewed to ensure accuracy, timeliness and regulatory compliance. Because of the sensitivity of some types of transactions, we frequently perform a complete audit to ensure that the work is progressing properly.
- Experience ~ Mellon Investor Services has handled many transactions – from the most basic to extremely complex. We have the people, products and procedures to bring the offering successfully to market.
- Customer Satisfaction ~ We will gladly provide you with references for processing services similar to those you are contemplating. Our satisfied customers will confirm that selecting Mellon Investor Services is the best choice for Secondary Offerings.
